CHRISTIAN CUSTODIANS ON CAMPUS

For the first time in 10 years a club put in an afternoon helping the Hartnell custodians clean up the campus.

Last Friday, several industrious members of the Intervarsity-Christian Club donned their working clothes, grabbed boxes and started picking up litter which had been strewn about campus. One worker counted 276 cigarettes and one cigar stub before she lost count.

The most littered area seemed to be outside the main hall along the walk to the library. Although the area does have trash cans, students seem to overlook or overthrow the cans.

Miss Handley, some of the faculty members, and the custodians, highly commended the club for its initiative and ingenuity, and thanked I.V. for its help and the wonderful job it did.

President David Mixter stated that "although we were able to cover only a small area, we feel that we did set a precedent that should be followed by other clubs in the future."

Although there were some skeptics who felt the "Christian Custodians" were degrading themselves.

Bishop Pike Pushes Equality

"We are in a very serious crisis in our nation. An injustice is being done."

Captivating his audience with his natural poise and impersonal opinions, the Rt. Rev. Bishop Pike recounted his beliefs on the critical racial situation existing in the country today. Speaking to a capacity crowd in the Men's Lounge on Monday, Bishop Pike made certain that he was for "racial equality NOW, not two years from now or 200. Everyone must take a stand one way or another; you cannot be middle of the road on an issue as pertinent as this."

"The American nation professes freedom and totalitarianism and then this happens. We ourselves made it happen, and we can't blame the communists for spreading it around."

Concerning his Episcopal Church he stated that it is "the most segregated hour in life; unless you consider the cocktail hour at the nearest country club. Up to this point, the churches (in general) have been dragging their feet concerning racial equality. They profess 'reconciliation'; an excuse to do nothing. I say the churches should take up the cause and make it part of their duty—the church must be totally on the side of the oppressed."

Summing up his talk, the bishop called on you, the American public, to get in and do something about this grave injustice.

"You should first support the governed justice of the land and then get out and educate everyone and everything possible—education being the key to better understanding of our fellow man, black, white, or red."

To Help Lead Student Meet

Thirty Hart students will attend a student government conference at City College of San Francisco tomorrow, sponsored by Area Six of the California Junior College Student Government Association. The conference will take the form of a series of discussion group workshops dealing with some of the problems facing student government.

John Vigil, vice president of Hartnell, will chair the discussion of activities and organizations.

This year's CJCSGA president, Art Renney, will attend tomorrow's confab as ambassador at large. This will be an important part of the planning and preparation for the state conference coming up at Asilomar next month.

With the eight other colleges of Area Six, Hartnell students will have the opportunity of discussing five areas of student government.

One workshop will deal with student politics, one with public relations, and another with finance.

The members of commission and other attending this conference are sure to profit from it and it is hoped that student government now and in the future will reflect this.

Pearson to Speak - at Last

One of the most controversial journalists in the nation will speak at Hartnell on Oct. 28, in the library at 8:00. Drew Pearson, nationally syndicated columnist, has one of the most widely read columns in the country. President

Kennedy reads "Washington Merry-Go-Round" each day although Pearson "aggravates" him, according to some inside sources. Members of Congress read his column to see if Pearson has "(1) anything on them, or (2) anything on their opponents."

His many brushes with libel laws keep him from being "the final source" on issues, although he did win the Sigma Delta Chi Distinguished Service Award in Journalism for general excellence of his performance in Washington.

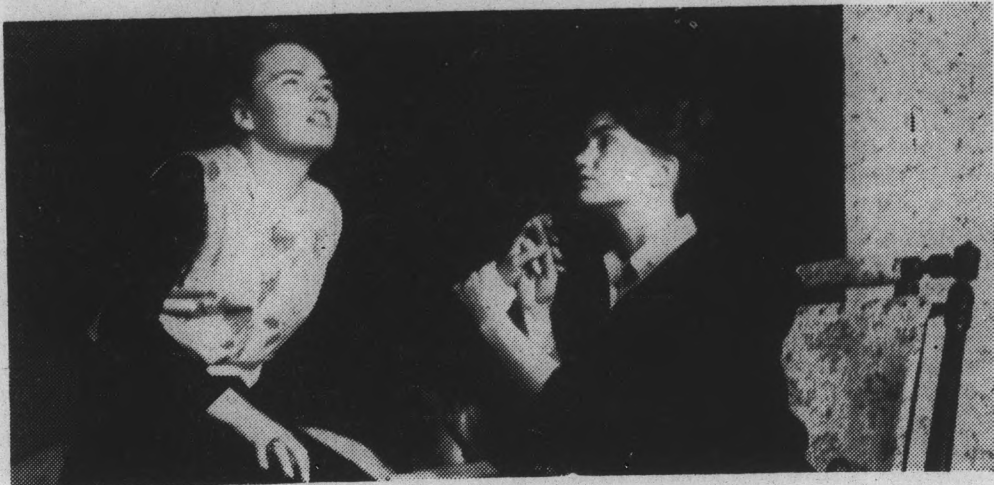

Never one to duck a fight, Mr. Pearson has had many interesting rounds with Presidents Truman, Eisenhower and Kennedy in his 32 years in Washington.

Pearson's articles have changed the outcome of many elections and his statements have swayed voters at crucial times.

Attending Phillips Exeter Academy and Swarthmore College in Pennsylvania, he made Phi Beta Kappa and became the editor of the college paper.

He was in the officer's training corps at the end of World War I, and in 1919 he joined the American Field Service Committee "to supervise the relief program in devastated Balkan villages." He is responsible for the Friendship Train, Democracy Letters to Italy, Food for East Germany, and many other campaigns and committees.

Players Present Drama Of "The Miracle Worker"

■ KAREN WILSON, newly cast as Annie Sullivan, tries to convey the word "water" to young Helen Keller (June Woodard)

By Dianne Haver

Opening the 1963-64 play season at Hartnell, "The Miracle Worker" is principally concerned with the emotional relationship between a lonely teacher, Annie Sullivan, and her blind charge, Helen Keller. This real-life story will be one of the most warmly admired plays ever produced in the Hartnell Little Theatre.

Drama coach Hal Ulrici said of the production:

"It is far different from any show that I have produced in the last fifteen years. The emotional conflicts between Annie and Helen are exhausting, causing one principal character to actually lose weight due to the action taking place on stage."

Helen Keller became blind and mute as an infant and no one knows what her fate might have been had she not eventually come under the care of Annie Sullivan.

CASTING CHANGES

Karen Wilson took over the lead role of Annie Sullivan Wednesday night after Mrs. Carol Wood collapsed due to nervous exhaustion. Filling Karen's former role as Aunt Ev will be Connie Sauret. Nancy Wilson is understudying Connie in the role of Dr. Anagnos.

Annie, a Greek girl who had been blind herself, was reluctantly hired by the agonized parents of the unfortunate little girl.

Little six-year-old Helen, trapped in her own secret world, is bitter, violent, badly spoiled, and, at first, animalistic in her actions. Only Annie realizes that there is a mind waiting to be rescued from the dark, tortured silence in which Helen lives. Annie's eventual success with Helen comes only after much patience and understanding.

Don't Get Dropped

There are approximately 30 clubs on campus, but at the last two I.C.C. meetings there have been barely a handful of representatives there. The first time there were 12, the next time 13. Where are the other representatives?

Do the clubs realize that if a representative is absent three times in a semester the clubs is suspended from I.C.C. and cannot participate in college activities or use the college facilities? It is up to clubs to see that they are not dropped from the rolls.

the Little Theatre stage, the changing of the many scenes has been made quite difficult. However, the stage crew does admirably well in making the many changes, and much credit must be given to this group.

The main cast for "The Miracle Worker" is: Helen Keller, June Woodard; The Doctor, Don Teeters; Mr. Keller, Robert Grossman; Mrs. Keller, Mrs. Barbara Weppener; Annie Sullivan, Karen Wilson.

The play will be presented Nov. 1, 2 and 7, 8, in the Hartnell Little Theatre at 8:30 p.m. Being the first play of the season, it promises to be first in quality.

Homecoming

As Homecoming draws nearer and nearer, campus clubs are frantically trying to get organized. Floats have to be discussed, planned, and constructed. But more important, candidates must be chosen for the Homecoming Queen. On Nov. 1, a special assembly will be held where the candidates will be introduced. The following week, Nov. 8, a coronation assembly will be held. Then Saturday night, of course, the queen will reign over the Homecoming game with Cabrillo College.

Following is a tentative list of queen hopefuls and their respective sponsors. More will be added later as the remaining clubs hold last minute elections.

DREW PEARSON

He has the Father of the Year Award for 1948, the French Legion of Honor, and the First Order Star of Solidarity (an Italian award).

Pearson was expected to speak at Hartnell Oct. 8 but had to be rescheduled when he found it was the night he was speaking in San Jose. A large crowd is expected at the library Monday night. It is free and open to the public.

What Constitution?

By STEVE SUTHERLAND

A move was made this week by some commissioners to completely ignore the constitution of the Associated Students of Hartnell College. This move was made in behalf of two cheerleaders who, it was discovered, do not fulfill the requirements for their office, specifically by maintaining a 2.0 average.

The constitution states emphatically that (Article 3, Section 3): "All officers may be, at the time that they enter upon the duties of their offices, members of any class. . . . (2) All candidates, in order to be eligible for nominations, shall maintain a 2.0 average per semester. Officers shall maintain said scholastic average during their terms of office. In the event of their failure to do so, the faculty adviser shall declare the office vacant.

"Section 6. The yell leaders and the pompon girls shall be selected in the following manner: Qualifications stated in Article III, Section 3 Paragraph (2) shall apply to yell leaders and pompon girls."

In other words the qualifications that apply to the student body officers also apply to the yell leaders and pompon girls. To completely ignore this constitutional fact is to, in fact, completely ignore the will of the student body.

This constitution was passed by the students of Hartnell College many years ago and was at that time considered fair. There have been 30-some years to change the constitution if the students felt it was necessary to do so but they have not felt the need to change the constitution in this section. It has always been considered, by most, that this section was completely fair.

The commission must not ignore the fact that this constitution has been approved by 30 years of students; they must not be allowed to ignore the constitution because of personal gain or friendships; and last of all they must not be allowed to ignore the constitution because to allow them to do so would, in effect, be allowing them to ignore all the dictates of the student body and this could rapidly lead into a state of debasement that would bring dishonor upon our school.

Thanks!

"Even a potion dissolves into its ingredients when it is not stirred." (Heraclitus, 535-475 B.C.).

Potion — Hartnell College.

Stirred — Hartnell College.

Something is finally happening at this stagnated college. No longer have we passive students OR disinterested faculty — the spark was lit, now we are being supplied the kindling.

Spark — Two letters to the editor in last week's Sentinel.

Kindling — Sincere rebuttals and instant action.

Enthusiasm makes for a better college; interest makes for a better newspaper; and together they make for a lot of much needed action.

Now that someone has started thinking around here, let's keep it up. More letters, more articles, but most of all, more interest in your college.

Thank you, commissioners, rally leaders, political personalities, and interested readers for finally giving this paper something to write about.

Hurrah for the constitution! We here at Hartnell played our part September 23 when we upheld the first amendment and allowed that great political leader of the California Young Republicans, Bob Gaston, to express his and his political party's views on U.S. politics and freedoms. He expressed that WE Democrats were a group of socialists, compared US to the communists, and denounced His Own party.

Mr. Gaston is for less federal control and more states' rights. Good for him. What about federal aid to water and power projects, farm subsidies, control of monopolies, and labor management laws? Does he contend that we should do away with these projects and laws?

We heard Robert Gaston give an unorganized speech that upheld what propagandists have been saying about the U.S. for years. That the U.S. is interested only in itself and not in helping the world. We, by virtue of our military and economic might, are obligated to preserve world peace and security.

A recording has been made by the Salinas Young Republicans of Mr. Gaston's speech on that same Sept. 23. This speech has caused much controversy, so to clear things up I had asked the Salinas Young Republicans to play this recording publicly. However, I understand that they are unable to as Mr. Gaston does not want to cause us any more mental anguish.

Letters to the Editor

It is a sad day when students are not allowed the opportunity to express their ideas as a group. I am thinking of a group that is respected all over this country, the Republican Party. In light of this I don't think it is wrong to say that the students of Hartnell College are being influenced by only one party. I don't see how this can be condoned by ANY American.

The people being blamed are not the people who don't want the Republican Party represented here, but the people who do, and who don't do anything about it. Apathy is a nasty habit. It can lead to the ruin of nations. I beg you who are concerned not to let it lead to the ruin of the Republican Party.

If you are a teacher who is a registered Republican, or if you are an independent who wants to register Republican, then please contact me to see if the two-party system can be returned to the Hartnell student body. And may I take this opportunity to say that if you are thinking about sponsoring the Hartnell Young Republicans, everything that is done by this group will be subject to your approval or disapproval BEFORE it is done.

Let's take pride in our party, the Republican Party, NOW.

Thank you,
Robert J. Armstrong
President, Young Republicans

In response to the letter in the Sentinel last Friday concerning our commissioner of rallies, I would like to express a few words in rebuttal. In my opinion and in the opinion of many of my friends, the office that Paul Vecker now holds is one of great responsibility and self-sacrifice.

No one can accurately evaluate the amount of work that is required of this office, and I believe that includes you, Miss Rodriguez. You wrote in your ridiculously immature letter that Mr. Vecker used shameful techniques in an attempt to heighten the spirit of the student body. May I remind you, Miss Rodriguez, that this is not Hartnell Grammar School or Hartnell High School, but Hartnell College; it is not a protected and isolated institution of purity as you would no doubt advocate. Students in colleges all over the country take pride in the openmindedness of their student body but are checked many times by people like you who prescribe absolute purity, even in a casual event like the school rally. As for Paul Vecker, I congratulate him for upholding the college tradition of openmindedness.

mission, we wish to correct a few of the distortions in a letter to the editor that was published in your last issue.

It was stated that the commission debates on "trivial, petty, trite and insignificant matters." Every issue before the commission is considered important whether it be choosing colors for emblems or passing motions on protecting people from larceny. It is our firm belief that we represent the ASB in everything we do and deep consideration must prevail over quick decisions. It is very important that the "slow" democratic process be used on every issue. We must never neglect a minority opinion.

To us it is not correct to determine the degree of importance of an issue but to allow a majority and minority opinion an equal opportunity to be heard.

We consider this commission excellent in its transaction of all business. This is proved by the fact that at our last three or four meetings our minutes consisted of three pages. It is not very often that within one hour so much business can be considered.

We hope that future letters will not be so general but more specific. We urge every member of the student body to attend the commission meetings Tuesdays at 12 noon in the SU 1.

My letter last issue caused a great deal of controversy.

I would like to amend one portion of my former letter. Where I asked "when will we receive an apology from Paul Vecker," I should have asked, "When will we, as Hartnell students, apologize to Paul Vecker for our lack of enthusiasm at the rallies; when will we cease to appear too bored and blasé to enjoy the rallies that he presents?" It has been our attitude, our lack of spirit, that has caused the rallies to be what they have been.

Last Friday's rally was short in length but good in quality. We were able to show Paul more enthusiasm and therefore the rally was more successful.

Our school needs our support. If this support does not come from us, the students, from where will it come?

Melody Rodriguez

How shocking it was to discover a fellow student felt it necessary to vividly assail certain individuals (by name or innuendo), for presenting unworthy rally material.

We encourage the initiative taken by the author and regret SHE took offense at the material presented however, we humbly suggest that future criticism be constructive rather than destructive.

I would like to thank Paul Vecker on behalf of many Hartnell students for the wonderful rally he presented last Friday.

This rally, unlike others presented in the past, seemed well planned and was presented in excellent taste. Everyone seemed to know what was expected of them and fulfilled every expectation. There was no vulgarity and everyone enjoyed the rally that much more.

Thank you, Mr. Vecker, for doing the job we elected you for, so well — keep up the good work. Gratefully, Drew Pearson will speak at Hartnell this coming Monday.

"Pearson is a liar. It is the kind of journalism that hurts the press, besides hurting the country." (President Franklin D. Roosevelt)

I hope you will realize what side Drew Pearson is REALLY on. Be sure to come hear this man speak Monday night — there will be an enlightening surprise in store for you, as well as Mr. Pearson.

* * *

Monday I asked an adviser of the Young Democrats if that group would sponsor a speaker on the United Nations; he replied in the affirmative. So I lined up a student at Hartnell to speak on the U.N. and informed the Y.D. adviser of my choice. The adviser immediately refused to let the student speak because the student held conservative opinions on the U.N. I told the adviser that if the student lied, he and the other adviser could bring out the truth, but he still refused. (This makes one think that the student opinions are correct and that the adviser of the Y.D.'s is trying to hide some important facts about the U.N.)

The faculty of this college is still forbidding academic freedom from the student body of Hartnell by refusing to have anything to do with the Young Republicans. Is there information that the Y.R.'s have that certain faculty members do not wish you, the student body of Hartnell College, to know?

Student Program Accents Insight

A definite easing of tension in foreign relations is apparent as officialdom of the student government adopts a soft line toward foreign students on campus.

In the process of formation at present is the foreign relations committee of Hartnell which will attempt to fulfill the aims of the very popular national People-to-People organization. This program is an attempt by American people to give the 70,000 foreign students in this country's universities and colleges some closer insight into American life with special emphasis on home and family life.

As envisioned by Jack Horwitz, ASB president, the program in this community will start off with various social gatherings of foreign students, and the locals. After these small beginnings the effort should snowball into real friendships and understanding between countries.

Student Government Branch

Jack is to be commended for his patience in getting this program on the move and, under the able guidance of Sherry Alewine, AWS president, and Stan Silver, AMS president, the committee can do a great deal to foster interest and understanding on campus and in the community.

As a committee appointed by the commission, the group is not a club but a branch of student government representative of all student body card holders and supported by them.

Mutual Aid Program

And this certainly will not be a one-way action. There will be something gained from this action for everything put into it. By showing a little interest in overseas affairs plus a fundamental knowledge of some areas and abandoning the usual parochial attitude, anyone can induce our foreign students to contribute their opinions and experience to any number of subjects. So broaden your outlook the easy way; by talking—everybody is good at that. Find out more about these students who leave their native land and society to move into another land and environment.

We might borrow the motto of another person-to-person project, World Tapes for Education: "World Peace Through Understanding." Think it over. The opportunities right now are greater than they may be for some time.

A PROPSAL FOR TRUE AMERICANS

By Oceola Trueblood

To the intelligent observer of recent racial tensions in the south it is readily apparent that there is a very definite relationship between color of skin and such factors as mentality, intelligence, aptitude, and general character. The white race is stupid, flabby, insensitive, cruel, awkward, and cursed with a lack of rhythm. The black race is reputedly unskilled but has rhythm. Of course, it would be inaccurate to imply that this is true only of those members of the races mentioned who live in the South.

To the aforementioned faults of the southerner, the northerner adds his own special brand of hypocrisy (I'm not prejudiced, but . . .) and an erroneous assumption of superiority over his southern counterpart, whether white or black. To hear either a Negro or a Caucasian open his mouth on the racial question (or nearly any other complexity of life) is to hear an unwitting condemnation of the speaker's own race.

Faced with this situation of a nation populated with incompetent, half-witted insensitives, what is the rare American of high quality to do? Must he sit by and helplessly watch as America is torn apart by the semibeats who cannot control even themselves, yet would deign to rule this great land, this land already suffering severely from their pilage and rape, their waste and haste, their overuse and overbreeding? Must he give his consent to these crimes through his silence and inaction?

The answer is NO! The True American can and must do something.

The True American must unite with others of his kind. There must be a union between the only two races with any right to call themselves True Americans. We, the American Indians, the original and rightful people of this continent, must unite with our Oriental-American cousins, who have proved their intelligence in our eyes, and rid ourselves and our progeny of the white pestilence and the black blight which have befallen us.

The Seminole, we who have never signed a treaty to end our war against our white inferiors, are prepared now to lead you who are the chosen people of the Great Spirit in establishing a just and rightful new government. Funds are being raised. Arsenals are being equipped. With these funds we will send every white back to Europe, where he belongs. We will deport every black to Africa. Our arms and warriors will drive into the sea those who seek to resist us.

Remember, it has been proved that intelligence is directly proportional to percentage by volume of Indian blood.

True Americans, stand up and be counted.

Attention: Nut Gatherers And Devil Worshipers

By ARVID FRATIES

Oct. 31 is coming around once more. It always seem to this time of year. Of course, you realize that this signifies the coming of All Hallows; the eve of All Saints Day; the truly ancient feast day.

Contrary to popular belief, Halloween (by which name you may know it) is not simply an excuse to throw balloons full of lye at old women. Students of folklore believe that the popular custom of Halloween exhibits traces of the Roman Harvest Festival of Pomona and of Druidism. The influences are inferred from the use of nuts and apples as traditional Halloween foods. (Here we go gathering nuts in May—only in October.)

Naturally enough, people eventually got away from the orgy idea which was once associated with the feast. In place of the orgy, they spent the evening worshipping devils with fires and by throwing shoes over their houses; a noble idea to say the least. The local church was thought to be a very acceptable place upon which to perform these actions; being, as was supposed, atmospherically ideal for the telling of the future. This might account for the hitherto inexplicable number of church fires. Then again, it probably doesn't.

One of the more famous customs which is carried through every October 31 is the dreaded "trick or treat" idea. This isn't a recent thing; originating, as it did, towards the end of the Middle Ages. "Trick or Treat" was considered a sacrifice to a deity named Muck Olla (how's that for a name?). People who refused to "treat" were considered, as they are now, to be stingy and tight. Therefore, the people took it upon themselves to loosen up these folks with a few minor tricks. Some of these minor tricks included blocking up their chimneys with turf (so the smoke couldn't get out), and then blocking up the doors (so the people couldn't get out)—a very effective method of life control indeed!

These customs which have come down to us have been somewhat distorted with the passage of time and by the growth of urban areas. The urban areas have affected the gaiety of Halloween through passage of local ordinances; substituting supervised educational and recreational activities, such as UNICEF.

Although these activities may prove to be effective emotional outlets, there is no denying that the old orgies were a heck of a lot more fun. With these words of wisdom, we leave you to plan your own Halloween.

Fright Frolics

What is the typical Hartnell student going to do on Halloween?

"Gee, I don't know. When is Halloween?"

Other students were a bit more illustrious. The Turtle Club on campus is going trick or treating en masse. Several students are looking for parties but so far no one is giving any.

One female student (no names mentioned in order to protect the guilty parties involved) has promised to take her mask off for this special occasion.

The yearbook editor (still no names mentioned) is going to play a new role; that of a mean and wicked dinosaur. The editor of this illustrious newspaper and several other kooks are going to haunt houses.

Smoking "pot" was the highly charged answer one future goblin gave.

Remember, whatever you do on Halloween, watch out for children, they might steal your candy.

May your pumpkin patch be judged most sincere.

SOPH WASH

The sophomore class is sponsoring a car wash at the Flying "A" service station at 501 South Main Street, next to Mel's. Between 12:00 and 4:00 Oct. 27 you can get the "best" car wash in town. And only $1.00!

The purpose of the car wash is, of course, to raise money. But Class President Bill Stafford hopes that it will also serve to promote spirit in the class by having members working together on this project.

■ LEADING HARTNELL'S attack against Vallejo, Menlo, and MPC in the cross-country meet last Friday were Bill Burton and Rube Salgado. Rube finished third and Bill came in seventh as Hartnell took a complete sweep of all top places in the meet. The other runner is MPC's Bob Crispin, who won the race but did not count due to lack of a team. The timer is Harts' own Ed Adams, cross-country coach.

Gridders Revel In Scoring Binge

Hartnell won its third straight football game of the current season when the team crushed the Falcons of Vallejo College 46-6, last Saturday. This was the first win for the Panthers in conference play. They must now face Gavilan, Menlo, Cabrillo, and Monterey Peninsula College in their efforts to gain the championship and a chance to host the Lettuce Bowl later on in the season.

A good crowd was on hand to watch the Panther squad run over the Falcon defense and stop the offense (almost). The game was exciting and rugged but nevertheless had very few penalties. In all, the game was great!

Mankins Begins Scoring

The scoring did not get under way until the second quarter when Big Jim Mankins carried over for the first score of the night. Powerful Jim scored a total of three touchdowns during the night and was once again the star of the show. Ron Cotta came through and scored two touchdowns and carried the ball for a total of 107 yards. He showed plenty of improvement.

Speedie Tweedie Scores

This set the stage for Terry Tweedie. Terry plays defense for the Panthers. He was playing on the line for the defensive squad of the Panthers when suddenly he looked at his hands and lo-and-behold a football had been placed there! Tweedie ran over the goal line to give Hartnell another six points. Tweedie made the lineman's dream come true. He was the happiest man on the Panther squad after the game.

The Falcons scored their points on an 83-yard pass play from quarterback Dave Parsons to end Charles Gebhardt. The play caught the Panther secondary asleep. This was the only bright spot in the entire game for the Falcons.

The entire local squad got to play against the Vallejo squad. The two who did not play due to injuries were Ted Riley and Paul McKinsey. Both of these boys suited up for the game but did not see any action.

Ted Riley should be rarin' to go this week. Ted shows plenty of improvement over his injury to his ankle a few weeks back.

It would take too much room to make a list of all who stood out in the game last Saturday. The best thing to do is just to give the football squad a good pat on the back for a job well done.

Tomorrow's Victim — Gavilan

The squad is ready to go tomorrow night at Hollister against Gavilan College. The Gavilan

HARTS ON TV

Meet coach Arvin Smith and the Panthers on TV. Every Saturday on Coaches' Corner — preceding the "Game of the Week."

squad dropped its first encounter against Menlo College last Saturday night 47-0. This could be an indication of Gavilan's lack of power. Of course the Gavilan group could have also had an "off" night.

Look for a good game this Saturday night as the Panthers of Hartnell will be after their second conference win.

PANTHERETTES GAIN HOOP WIN

Women's athletic competitive basketball squad traveled to Gonzales high school a week ago for an encounter with the girls of that school. The trip resulted in a victory for the Hartnell female hoopsters.

Although the high schoolers were ahead at half time, Mrs. Middaugh's cagers came through like champions in the last quarter to hand the younger set a defeat. The score read: Hartnell 21, Gonzales 18.

Kathy Bauer topped the Hart cagers in the scoring department. She swished in a total of nine points.

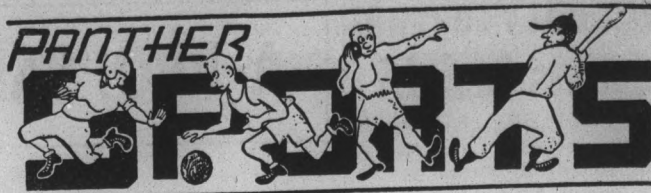

Next game for the team will be on Oct. 28. The squad will host Monterey Peninsula College at 7 p.m. in the Men's Gymnasium. Everyone is invited to come to cheer our team onward to victory.

CALL GOES OUT FOR GOLFERS

Although the golf team will not compete as such until next spring Mrs. Middaugh, P.E. instructor, is formulating plans for practices at the Salinas Country Club. Those on the team will benefit from the expert advice given by Mr. Ben King, golf pro in this area. Prospective members for the team have been asked to submit class schedules so that Mrs. Middaugh can plan practices so as not to conflict with their classes.

Anyone who has some knowledge of golf and would like to benefit from Mr. King's instruction with the hope of competing next spring is asked to contact Mrs. Middaugh.

Hart Thinclads Get Hot; Cool Opposition at Home

Victory once again came to the harriers under Coach Adams. The cross-country squad defeated Vallejo and Menlo on the Hartnell course last Friday afternoon. The squad earlier had traveled to Foothill on Thursday where they settled for a third place team finish in the meet with San Jose City College, Chabot College of Hayward, and Foothill College.

The Thursday meet was originally scheduled against Foothill, but as the meet turned out, the other teams showed up willing to run. Hartnell made a "darn" good showing against the Foothill Owls. Only one Owl was ahead of our Panther twosome, Len Davies and Rube Salgado. The rest of the team for Hartnell came through with some surprises. Finishing a surprising third for Hartnell was Mark Botelho. Following Mark were Bill Burton, Dave Guzman, Ken Shirk,

As usual there was a large sprinkling of assorted celebrities present: Dan Blocker of Bonanza fame (no, he owns a car). Roger Ward, Indianapolis winner; Britisher Graham Hill, moustachioed 1962 world champion; Texas oilman John Mecom, Jr.; with wife and lynx coat.

Briggs Cunningham, one of America's foremost all-around sportsmen, had his stable in attendance, but his successes were only moderate.

Frank Furrer, and Tom Bailey. Chuck Sanders made the trip but failed to finish the race.

In its victory over Menlo and Vallejo on Friday afternoon, the Panther CC squad ran away with the meet even though most Hartnell runners were sore and just plain tired from the previous afternoon. The meet was easily won by the places which Hartnell managed to get. The victory left the Panthers with an undefeated record in conference competition.

Pacing the Panther CC squad to its victory were Len Davies and Rube Salgado. The two made the race exciting even though they ended up in second and third respectively. The winner ended up being Bob Crispin of Monterey Peninsula College. The Monterey squad was disqualified because of its lack of runners. There must be at least five runners in order to constitute a team in competition. The Panthers took the rest of the places, thus giving the Panther squad its second sweep of the season over Vallejo and its first over Menlo.

The runners have been working harder this week. They are now building up for their coming meet which will determine the Coast Conference champion. Today the squad will run against Cabrillo College, the only team which Hartnell has not competed against in conference competition. The Panthers are favored to defeat the Seahawks and receive the nod for the inside lane at the conference meet Nov. 9.
